

The Thanksgiving Section of
The Sunday Telegram
 Which Will be Issued
Sunday, November 21

Will Contain Many Articles of Special Thanksgiving
 Interest to Our Readers.

HERE'S THE PROGRAM:

Rev. Leighton Parks

Rector St. Bartholomew's Church, New York City, will contribute a very interesting article in which he will say, "Thanksgiving Day this year has a significance for Americans beyond any year in our national history."

The reverend Mr. Parks has a world-wide reputation as a lecturer and author and the Telegram is very fortunate in getting this article from his pen. It will appeal to all literary and thinking people. Watch for it in the Sunday Telegram, November 21.

Cranberry Sauce and "Punkin" Pie

Public school cooking teachers disagree about cranberry sauce; some say "punkin" pie tastes better than "pumpkin." What do you think? This article, which includes several scientific and "home grown" recipes, made to harmonize in producing the Thanksgiving dinner will surely whet your appetite for YOUR Thanksgiving dinner. It appears in the Sunday Telegram November 21. Don't miss it.

Cardinal John M. Farley

Archbishop of New York

will contribute a page article which is a masterpiece. The subject is "A RELIGIOUS IDEAL, THE NATION'S BLESSING—a new conception of duty that the American Thanksgiving festival imposes.

This article will appear exclusively in West Virginia in the Sunday Telegram, November 21. Order from your newsdealer now.

Polygamous Turkey

with unbeautiful head, redeems himself as food; Prophet without honor in his own home receives homage after death. His history and his personal characteristics will be told in a style that will instruct and amuse old and young. Be sure to read this special article in the Sunday Telegram, November 21.

The Reign of Pumpkin Pie

Pumpkin pie still reigns over the true Thanksgiving board, although many rivals have survived since pilgrim days.

The origin of pumpkin pie will be told in an interesting manner and many different and famous recipes for its making will be given in a page feature story in the Sunday Telegram, November 21. Get the Thanksgiving spirit. Order the Sunday Telegram from your newsdealer today.

THE THANKSGIVING HOPE After the War

"While the United States is giving thanks, its prayers for the future will join with that of all the world."
